

Abel González García

He is a professor of Criminology and director of the department at UDIMA and has been a member of the Federation of Associations of Criminologists of Spain (FACE) since 2007. He is also an associate professor at the Crimina Center of the Miguel Hernández University. He has participated in various intervention projects in alternative measures to prison in the field of road safety and in projects aimed at preventing school violence and cyberbullying of minors. He received the award from the Professional Colleges of Criminology in 2018 and the award from the area of criminological research of the FACE in 2011. He also received the "Trino Quijano" award from the Association of Local Police Chiefs of Alicante in 2008.

Research Lines

Cybercriminology, bullying and cyberbullying, analysis of instruments for crime prevention in educational centers.